SSI

2010 SSI RESOURCE ELIGIBILITY IN MASSACHUSETTS

As part of the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 (P.L. 98-369), the resource limits for SSI eligibility had been undergoing an increase each year for a period of five years. Therefore, 1989 was the fifth and final phase of the annual increase.

The maximum resource limits regarding children are still the following:

Disabled Individual: (includes child not living with parents)	$2,000.00
Disabled child living with 1 parent ($2,000.00 each)	$4,000.00
Disabled child living with both parents ($2,000.00 child, $3,000 parents)	$5,000.00

SSI

INCOME ELIGIBILITY FOR SSI IN MASSACHUSETTS

(Effective January 1, 2010)

The following charts can be used as a guide for families with a disabled child who may be eligible for SSI. Income eligibility is based on household size. The earned income maximum is Gross Monthly wages, or net earnings from self-employment. Unearned income is the monthly payment from such sources as pensions, unemployment or workers compensation, rental income, interest on savings, support, alimony, and/or Social Security.
